CHANGE IN SCHEDULED START TIME FOR HEALTH SYMPOSIUM

PREVENTION, PRIVACY, AND PRICE — WHAT MAKES THE WELLNESS SOCIETY TICK?

Washington, D.C. – May 18, 2017 Dialogue on Diversity's 2017 Health Care Symposium, to be held on Tuesday, May 23rd at the NCLR headquarters, 1126 Sixteenth street, N.W. in Washington, will change its start time to accommodate the scheduling needs of its Trailblazer Award recipient and opening speaker, Rep Raúl Grijalva. Initially set for 9:45 a.m., the presentation will now be made at 9:15 a.m.

We were informed late today that the Congressman must be at a Committee hearing at 10:00 a.m. We will therefore begin proceedings with the presentation and brief remarks by Rep. Grijalva. At 9:15 a.m. The Congressman will depart shortly after 9:30 a.m. for a fast trip back to Capitol Hill. We are appreciative of his making room for our event in the midst of what is obviously a very heavily loaded schedule of events!

The rest of the program, beginning with the Convenor's greeting and the Overview of the health care agenda, will proceed as indicated in the scheduled order.

We are thus including as an attachment to this notice the current Agenda with several newly arranged speakers and the changed start time displayed.

We remind you to register promptly at the Dialogue's internet address, set out below, for this very interesting and timely May 23rd Symposium program, to be held at the NCLR's main floor conference space, at 1126 Sixteenth Street. N.W. We look forward to welcoming you for the occasion.
